Introducing Georgia BRIGHT, a new program available to low-to-middle-income Georgia residents looking to save money on energy bills. This initiative involves the leasing of solar panels to take the burden of solar panel ownership off your plate while breaking down barriers to accessible renewable energy.

To qualify you must own your home, have a roof in good condition, and meet certain income requirements, with no minimum credit score required.

This program is proudly supported by The City of Savannah and trusted solar partners.
